Photovoltaic panels cracked and have bullet holes

Overview

Repair cracked solar panels using appropriate techniques such as epoxy resin injection or module replacement to optimize energy production and system longevity. One has made a small crack in the actual bit of the panel with the lines and a bigger hole has been made on the panel but not where the lines are. How screwed am I?

Neither make a hole in the outer glass. I've also got a weird kind of cloudy marking on some bits of the panel. They're also the most vulnerable part when dealing with nature's elements. Hail can have the same impact as a small rock, and tons of it falling over your solar. Cracked solar panels can be a significant concern for solar system owners. Is it possible for a panel to do this on its own (a short circuit or something)?

If I can do it, you can do it. If I had to guess (which I do).
